

Bank of America Merrill Lynch

Understanding the issues facing higher education is critical to providing financial solutions that best serve the missions of colleges and universities. Bank of America Merrill Lynch offers a team of specialists dedicated to addressing the unique objectives of colleges, universities and research institutions nationwide. We stay ahead of your needs, working closely to leverage our focused knowledge and global platform to help you achieve your educational mission.

Year after year, semester after semester, Bank of America Merrill Lynch leverages the strength of one of the world's leading banks — and the focused attention of a local relationship — to help institutions of higher education turn opportunities into realities again and again.
