

Homo naledi ~300,000

Cradle of Humankind, South Africa

Best physical feature?

My hands! With the feet of Homo sapiens and the most curved fingers of ANY hominin, I can walk bipedally AND climb and hang in trees

Special skills?

Don't let my small brain fool you! With an IQ off the charts and these dexterous hands, I can make tools and fire... a true jack of all trades

There's no point in my memory being preserved forever if forever isn't shared with you.

Hulu obsession?

Can't stop watching The X-Files! What can I say? I appreciate a good mystery every once in a while...just like me ;)

Favorite food?

I love potatoes—fried, mashed, roasted, scalloped, baked, DOUBLE baked, you name it—but I usually eat them raw for the sake of convenience. Don't worry, though, my teeth are built for it.

Perfect first date?

I like to think I'm pretty adventurous, so my ideal first date would be spelunking. Hope you're not claustrophobic!

Must-have's in a partner?

A level-head and ensured ability to love me for me and not just the fame that comes with being Naledi

On a typical weekend you will find me...

Laying back and relaxing in my usual hangout spots: don't worry, I know a cave.

5 things I cannot live without:

Caving Systems. A good fruit salad. My excellent facial hair. Anthropology. Long walks.

Message me if...

If you've ever wanted to travel the Savannahs of South Africa with the love of your life
