

Hey ladies! I'm George and I'm from Ethiopia. I'm really independent and I love to socialize in groups!

2 Truths and a Lie...

I only eat a healthy plant-based diet. I'm 6'2" 240 lbs (great genetics what can I say?). I love climbing trees for cardio to stay in shape.

Message me with your guess ;)

George, 3.5 million (but who's counting?)
3 miles away

Australopithecus Afarensis

I have a great smile because of my small canines, so I'm looking for a funny girl that helps me show it off! Not to mention my fantastic strong jawline... I am also covered in hair so you won't have to worry about me balding anytime soon...

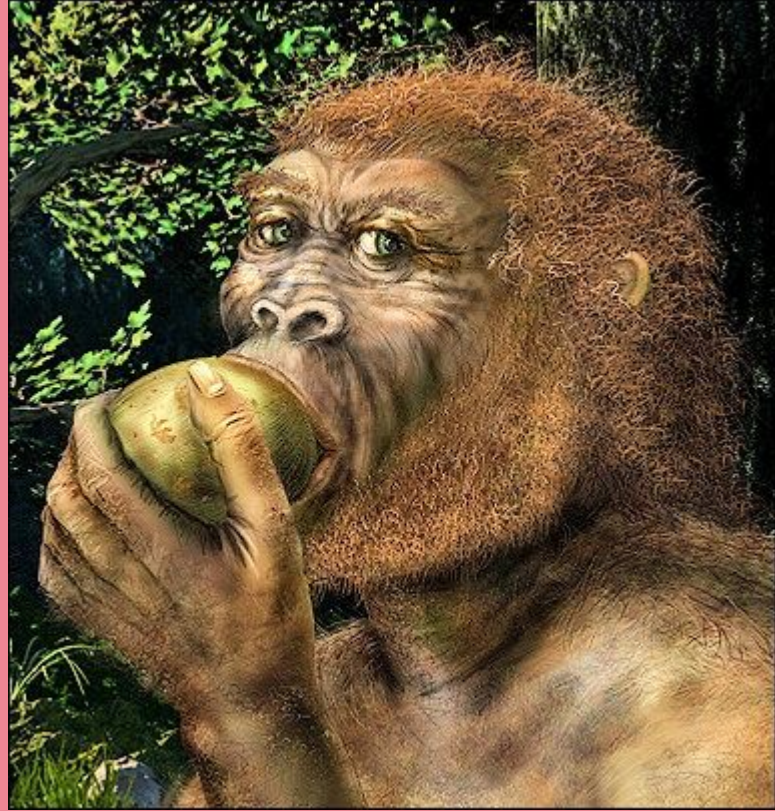

One of my favorite activities is taking long nature walks. I also enjoy picking fresh fruits and vegetables to incorporate into my meals. Sometimes on the weekends I like to climb trees for fun as it can be very peaceful up in the canopy. (Don't knock it til you try it!)

I'm looking for a girl who can challenge me to learn new things such as working with tools to find food. I spend a lot of time on my own so I need a girl that is social and will introduce me to her friends. I am also looking for a girl that is shorter than me, but I'm 6'2" so that shouldn't really be a problem.

I love a good grilled leaf casserole or roasted Savannah grasses with fresh fruit on the side. My mother's cooking is out of this world so I'm looking for a girl that also loves to cook. Don't worry, I have great table manners. My teeth are perfectly designed for chewing plants and fruits, and I never chew with my mouth open.

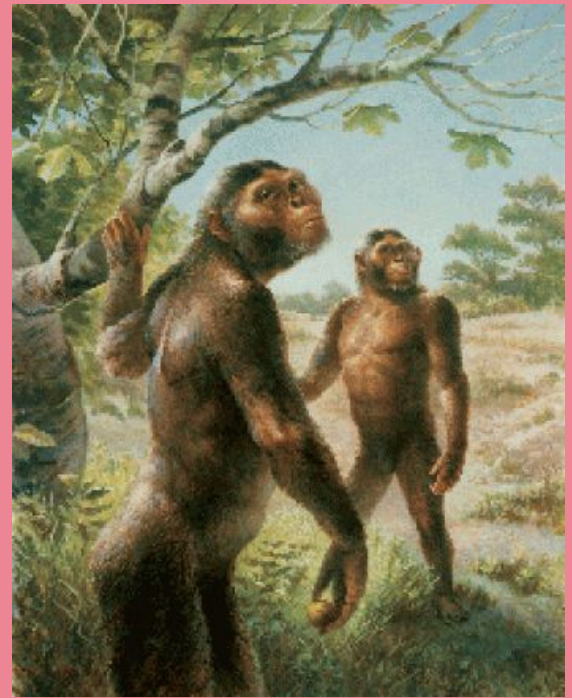

I love streaming Survivor because it's great, relatable reality TV! It always gives me some good dinner and shelter ideas...

My perfect first date would be a picnic after a great morning hike through the forest.

On a typical you will find me learning how to make and use tools for harvesting plants.

5 Things I Can't Live Without...

1. Grass and Leaves
2. My long, strong arms
3. Fruits with lots of sugar
4. Big molars
5. A companion (You?)

Message me if you're down to hang (in the trees) and want to talk over a long walk!

