Identification of Investigator and Purpose of Study

You are invited to participate in a research study, entitled Comparing Two Theories of Subjective Personal Uniqueness. The study is being conducted by Kendall Gaspari of the University of Notre Dame, who may be reached at kgaspar1@nd.edu.

The purpose of this research study is to study different variations of personal uniqueness and how they relate to parenting. Your participation in the study will contribute to a better understanding of the connection between these two variables and how they relate to the individuation process. You are free to contact the investigator at the above address to discuss the study. You must be at least 18 years old to participate.

If you agree to participate:

- The survey will evaluate your relationships with your parent(s) or parental figures as well as certain personal characteristics about yourself and will take approximately 20 minutes of your time.
- You will be compensated with 1 SONA credit hour for your participation

Risks/Benefits/Confidentiality of Data

There are no known risks associated with this study. There will be no costs for participating, nor will you benefit directly from participating. Your name and email address will be kept during the data collection phase for tracking purposes only. A limited number of research team members will have access to the data during data collection and identifying information will be stripped from the final dataset.

Participation or Withdrawal

Your participation in this study is voluntary. You may decline to answer any question and you have the right to withdraw from participation at any time. Withdrawal will not affect your relationship with the University of Notre Dame in anyway. If you do not want to participate either simply stop participating or close the browser window.
