

Indiana Science Communication Day

The Science Policy Initiative at the University of Notre Dame would like to invite you for a day of Science Communication at the Indiana Statehouse in Indianapolis, IN

Monday March 11, 2019

This is a unique and important opportunity for Graduate Students and interested Undergraduates from all over Indiana to learn how to discuss the importance of their research with legislators.

We will begin with a brief communication training, and then proceed to a coffee and bagel reception in the statehouse lobby with staff and legislators. Participants will have the opportunity to meet one-on-one with their State Senators and Representatives during session.

Please consider signing up by emailing scipolnd@nd.edu, or going to our website: <https://sites.nd.edu/spi-club/> to fill out an application. Travel Reimbursement may be available to eligible attendees.

