

Now What?

Continue to fight. Consider how you are being called to get involved:

The March is over, but that does not mean we should go back to Notre Dame and stop caring about the pro-life cause. We must continue to involve ourselves in this fight against injustice, not only for the unborn's sake, but also for life at all its stages. In this packet you will find many ways to become more informed and get more involved, please take some time to read through it and find where you may feel most comfortable supporting and celebrating the sanctity of all human life.
